

PAID CONTENT

This Tech Company Is Committed to Human Connection
FROM WORKVIA

INTERNATIONAL

Who is Dominic Raab, Boris Johnson's stand-in as U.K.
prime minister?

NEWSLETTERS

Airbnb gets a $1 billion lifeline

NEWSLE

'Boring #

FINANCE • SMALL BUSINESS ADMINISTRATION

These are the banks and lenders currently accepting SBA Paycheck Protection Program loan applications

BY ANNE SRADERS

April 6, 2020 3:33 PM EDT

This article will be updated periodically, so please check back for the latest.

The Small Business Administration's Paycheck Protection Program loan launched on Friday, April 3—to a very mixed bag of results.

Banks and lenders were hard-pressed to get systems and application processes in place before the deadline, having only received further guidelines about how to actually issue and process the loans late on the eve of the program's launch. And as of early Friday morning, the day of the launch, only one major bank—Bank of America—was able to begin accepting applications on its portal.

PAID CONTENT

You don't have to choose between doing well and doing good

FROM HP

Since then, several banks and other lenders have begun accepting applications. You can also use the SBA's resource to find lenders in your area. Here's where you can currently apply:

Banks

Bank of America was the first major bank to get its portal up and running around 9 a.m. ET on Friday. Applicants can apply for the PPP loan on the BofA site.

JPMorgan Chase followed suit about midday on Friday, opening up applications for small businesses, after initially telling customers the bank would not be accepting them on Friday. The bank's website for accepting applications is currently down for improvement as of midday Monday, but you can apply here.

Wells Fargo was accepting "expressions of interest" in the PPP loans through April 5, and will begin accepting applications from that pool (the bank is not accepting any more expressions of interest at this time, according to its site). Wells Fargo notes on the site it will "provide updates in the coming days."

Sunrise Banks is now accepting PPP loan applications on its site. You can apply here.

Silicon Valley Bank, or SVB, is participating in the SBA PPP loan program, and expects to begin accepting applications on Tuesday, April 7.

5G-
spu
fire:

BY TI

Whe
cou

BY LI

The
curi
Prof

BY AI

Fac
Tru
Con

BY D,

Spon:

Legen
Annou
of 202
Banyan IPay 0 |
Compar6 Cred
Not Ig
Excell
NerdWalHow C
Millior
Fisher In

Regional banks

Ameris Bank is currently accepting PPP loan applications on its site. The bank services Alabama, Florida, Georgia, and South Carolina, and has mortgage-only locations in Alabama, Georgia, Florida, South Carolina, North Carolina, Virginia, Maryland, and Tennessee.

PNC Bank is currently accepting PPP loan applications from applicants with an existing business deposit or lending relationship with PNC, according to its site. You can apply here.

Atlantic Capital Bank, based in Atlanta, is now accepting applications from existing customers. Applicants who are current clients and filled out an information request should now get emails with the application.

Celtic Bank, based in Salt Lake City, is accepting PPP loan applications on its site.

FirstBank is accepting PPP loan applications. You can work with your FirstBank banker or branch to apply along with necessary documents, according to its site.

Peapack-Gladstone Bank is accepting applications from current clients now. See its site for details and the application.

First Commonwealth Bank is accepting applications from existing business customers. You can apply here.

First Home Bank, based in Tampa, has currently suspended accepting applications for the PPP loan owing to volume, but provides a contact form on its site if they resume accepting applications.

Blue Ridge Bank, based in Virginia, has now opened up its PPP loan application process. Those with an account at Blue Ridge can apply here.

Midwest BankCentre is now accepting PPP loan applications. You can apply through your relationship manager or local branch, or apply through the bank's site and email the application following the instructions.

US Bank is now accepting PPP loan applications from those who filled out an inquiry form on its site. The bank is starting with emailing current US Bank customers, beginning with single-owner businesses. The bank will be accepting non-US Bank client applicants as well, but encourages applicants to use a bank they already have a relationship with.

West Town Bank & Trust is currently accepting pre-application forms for the PPP loan, and applicants will receive an email once applications are accepted.

Univest Bank and Trust Co., headquartered in Pennsylvania, is currently accepting applications from current Univest customers only.

Old National's existing clients with an active account or loan prior to March 31 can apply for the PPP loan now. Applicants can also apply by contacting their existing Old National commercial loan officer.

Pinnacle Bank is now accepting applications for the PPP loan. The bank recommends reaching out to your Pinnacle financial adviser or a branch. You can find more information here.

Umpqua Bank, based in Oregon, was accepting PPP loan applications from current customers, but has since suspended acceptance owing to a high volume of applicants. Prospective applicants can check back in here.

First United Bank applicants in Texas and Oklahoma can apply for the PPP loan here.

Fulton Bank is accepting PPP loan applications from existing business customers on its site.

Credit unions and nonbank lenders

America First Credit Union is accepting applications. You can apply on its site. The credit union requires applicants to have a current business account.

Fountainhead SBF, a nonbank lender, is also accepting PPP loan applications. According to its site, Fountainhead is one of only 14 nonbank lenders licensed to make SBA 7(a) loans. You can apply for the loan on its site.

Ready Capital, a nonbank lender, is accepting inquiry forms for applications on its website.

Fintechs

Kabbage, a direct funding fintech, is also accepting Paycheck Protection Program loans. Applicants can apply on the fintech's site.

More must-read finance coverage from Fortune:

- What small businesses applying to the SBA's Paycheck Protection Program need to know
- The worst part of losing 10M jobs in 2 weeks? The real number may be much higher
- Everything you need to know about the new 401\(k\) no-penalty withdrawals
- What to do if you can't pay your bills this month
- Listen to Leadership Next, a Fortune podcast examining the evolving role of CEOs
- VIDEO: 401\(k\) withdrawal penalties waived for anyone hurt by COVID-19

Subscribe to Fortune's Bull Sheet for no-nonsense finance news and analysis daily.

Sponsored Video by

Turn everyday purchases into exciting getaways

Learn more